REQUEST

The Office of Strategy, Budget & Performance requests approval to accept and administer $230,000 in funding from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation's 2024 Culture of Health Prize to support projects described below in the Department of Health and Human Services and the Parks Department.

BACKGROUND

In June of 2024, at the direction of the Office of the County Executive, the Office of Strategy, Budget & Performance applied for the 2024 Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) Culture of Health Prize, which "honors the work of communities that are at the forefront of addressing structural racism and other injustices to advance health, opportunity, and equity for all." The application process consisted of a multi-part written application and a site visit for finalists, which occurred in October of 2024 and included participation by County Executive Crowley, Chairwoman Nicholson, department leaders from DHHS and Parks, Milwaukee Parks Foundation, and over 25 community partners. The 2024 application cycle was the tenth and final year of the Culture of Health Prize and it was the most competitive, with over 400 submissions. Milwaukee County will now join a prize alumni network of over 100 other communities in the U.S. More information can be found here: RWJF Selects 2024 Culture of Health Prize Winners.

Milwaukee County's application submission for the RWJF 2024 Culture of Health Prize aligns to the following strategic objectives:

- 2C: Apply a racial equity lens to all decisions
Prize criteria 1) Address structural racism and other structural injustices to advance opportunity, health, and equity; and 2) Commit to lasting changes in policy, systems, and financing that improve community conditions and center people directly impacted by the inequity addressed.
- 3A: Invest “upstream” to address root causes of health disparities
Prize criteria 5) Make the most of available resources to ensure the effort can endure over time; and 6) Measure and share progress in culturally relevant ways.

- 3B: Enhance the County's fiscal health and sustainability
The prize is $250,000 in unrestricted funds.
- 3C: Dismantle barriers to diverse and inclusive communities
Prize criteria 3) Work in partnership across sectors, and elevating the expertise and solutions held by people with firsthand experience of the inequities being addressed; and 4) Engage in work that preserves and celebrates community through cultural activities and practices that envision and advance a more just future.
