What kind of world do we have in which some people are seeking more money to fund jobs that we know to be linked to PTSD? Earlier this week, I emailed all members of this board a research study that notes that: 'Prison employees have a PTSD rate equivalent to Iraq and Afghanistan war veterans and higher than police officers' -

What would happen if instead of focusing on staffing a facility oriented towards deprivation of freedom, we focused more time, energy, and resources on providing people, families, and social institutions the resources and tools needed to respond more effectively to needs?

Death inside the jail as has happened represents a moral failing and it is my hope more attention is paid here by the members of this board to the violence itself, and less energy given to the policing of social norms.

Thank you for your work on this matter and I look forward to the day we can all celebrate meaningful change; I hope it comes within my lifetime.
