While I would like to see this resolution go further, and more clearly make the shift to in-house food service provision (rather than hire a consultant - will the consultant, for example, have experience living inside any of this institutions? on what principles will they conduct this evaluation?). Still, I do want to express support for this, as it is a step that could (ideally) push state-run institutions to provide culturally-appropriate and healthy foods.

It is my understanding this policy would shift governmental agencies to act in ways that better align with some of the demands of community/activist groups, and that such a shift would also help improve the safety and well-being of those throughout the geography of Milwaukee County.

This resolution would ideally provide greater transparency over population levels across institutions. These data, of course, already exist, so I am a little confused/concerned about how this will be implemented. I also have privacy concerns that stem from the fact we have a rapidly-changing world of technology, and I worry that this project could accidentally reveal identities of youth and/or families without their permission, and in stigmatizing or marginalizing ways.
